

E-Payment Special: Restrictable payment card

You and your customers determine the items or product groups of your range to be paid with a payment card. Parents for example can restrict the payment card of their children so that these cannot use the card for forbidden items.

Your options

Define a special product group with individual products of your range, which may be paid with the restrictable payment card. When you publish this product group it is displayed for your customers in their bonVito account. If requested you can assign this product group a customer group, which then can only pay products of the configured group.

Customers' options

After the product group has been published your customers can further restrict the product range in their own bonVito account. It is then no longer possible to pay the excluded products with the card.

Your advantages

- You can guarantee that the card user cannot buy or pay forbidden products
- Easy management and handling of customer groups at the Point of Sale
- Acquisition of new customers who attach great importance to a fixed defined purchase behaviour
- Customer retention from an early age: Cashless payment for your young customers (see example "Kids- and canteen card")

Your customers' advantages

- Individual product restriction possible
- Customers can guarantee that the loaded balance (on a family card for example) is exclusively used for released products

Application example: Kids- and canteen card

Issue of card to pupils

Release of allowed products by the parents

POS system rejects booking of forbidden items